

DR. LANGSAM IS SPEAKER FOR ELKS' SERVICE

Annual memorial services for 159 deceased members of the lodge were held by the Gettysburg Elks Sunday evening at the organization's home on York St.

The list of departed members, starting in 1907, includes eight who died during the past year, Myles R. Deardorff, Charles M. Willis, Cyril J. Fisher, Ralph Z. Oyster, Charles E. Swisher, Elmer L. Haner, Walter J. Craumer and D. Lake Reaver. The ritual included the calling of the names of those who died during the past year by Secretary George E. Burner while Esquire C. David McCullough lighted candles in their memory.

Dr. Walter C. Langsam, president of Gettysburg College, in delivering the memorial oration termed the departed members, "God-fearing and loyal citizens who contributed what they could to make this world a better place in which to live. It is not too much to ask that we show our love of those who have entered the eternal life by living better lives ourselves."

"Let Us Be Allergic"

"We must be intelligent men of faith, men of reasonable tolerance and sane patriotism. Reasonable tolerance does not mean being indifferent, nor does it mean appeasement, nor mental laziness. But it does mean a readiness to try to understand another's viewpoint. Tolerance has a right to demand that everyone live up to the fundamentals of decency. Intolerance is a sign of totalitarianism."

"As intelligent and tolerant men we have a right to hold strong opinions only on those things on which we are reasonably well informed. Everyone has a right to his own opinion only if he has some knowledge on which to base those opinions."

Need Sense Of Humor

"But again no one should stall or never make a decision until a great study has been made of a subject. That would be as foolish as extreme as making rash judgments without information. The ideal lies somewhere in between the two extremes."

"We should place more emphasis on the give and take. In our world congresses back through the years, how much emphasis was placed on selfish national demands and how little emphasis was placed on mutually beneficial compromises."

"And as men of faith we must have a sense of humor. Nothing is ever completely lost for a people"

REV. SCHMIDT TALKS TO MEN

Facts about the Revised Standard Version of the Bible were given by the Rev. Herbert H. Schmidt, librarian at the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary, in a talk given before the Men of Christ Church Sunday at Christ Lutheran Church.

Termining the Bible "the property of the people," Rev. Mr. Schmidt declared, "Our generation is rediscovering the Bible. Man's uncertainty is causing him to turn to the Bible for guidance and counsel and to find hope in unquiet days."

Thirty-two scholars from 90 denominations started the Fifth Authorized Version in 1949. Rev. Mr. Schmidt said, in describing the work of the translators, he spoke of earlier versions as well, including the Wycliff, Luther, Tindale and the King James version of the Bible.

More than 1,600,000 copies of the current version have been sold so far and the publisher has 350,000 unfilled orders, Rev. Mr. Schmidt said.

Dr. John B. Zinn, retiring president of the Men of Christ Church, expressed his appreciation for the cooperation he has received during the last two years. Dr. Ralph Heim led devotions. Reports were presented by Secretary Franklin Cofelt and Treasurer John Kaltreider. The new president, Russell Campbell, will take office at the January 4 meeting.

YULE SEASON IS USHERED IN AT "Y" SUNDAY

More than 100 persons witnessed the ceremony of the hanging of the greens at the YWCA building Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Ushering in the yuletide season, Christmas carols were used as the theme for the decorations and the various carols were played on the piano by Mrs. Jacob Heikkinen while members of "Y" groups placed the decorations with each room depicting the Christmas idea presented in a single carol.

The large front room on the first floor was decorated by the Annie Danner Club members while Mrs. Heikkinen played "Lo, How a Rose." The dining room was decked with holiday greens by the Business and Professional Women's Club on the keynote of "Good King Wenceslas."

Worship Service Held

"Deck the Halls" was the background for the decoration of the "Y" hallways by the BeeP Club members and window wreaths and the front door piece were provided by the "Y" board. Upstairs rooms were decorated by these Y-Ten groups: Tenettes, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear"; Junior Miss Club, "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day"; and the Silver Link Club, "O Holy Night."

The program included a Christmas service of worship led by Mrs. W. Raymond Sammel, "Y" board president, assisted by Mrs. William H. Pensyl, Mrs. J. Leslie Himes and Mrs. Philip Hughes. There was the traditional Christmas candle lighting ceremony conducted by members of the BeeP. Mary Runkle of the Tenette Club lighted the association candle.

EPIDEMIC OF SPEEDING HERE

Borough police are wondering what "speed demon" seemed to take possession of motorists Sunday night.

There were Janet L. Noel, New Oxford R. 2, who was traveling at 70 miles per hour on York St. and Earl J. Lauer, Hanover R. 2, who was going 45 miles per hour on Hanover St. Both will be charged before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder with reckless driving, police said.

There also was Harold Franklin Streeter, Frederick Md., who was traveling at 45 miles per hour on N. Washington St. and who faces a reckless driving charge before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

A number of others caught speeding Sunday night are scheduled to receive notices from justices for reckless driving in the borough, but in those instances police have to check license numbers before placing the charges, they said.

But Sunday night is not the only one when some people travel too fast, police observed.

They placed a reckless driving charge before Justice Basehore on a case that they had been investigating since Monday. William Hankey, Fifth St., police said, was traveling at a rapid rate on E. Middle St. So fast was he going, police said, that when he found a fire truck halfway into the street, he had to climb a sidewalk to go around.

BOY, 16, ADMITS 3 BURGLARIES WITH 2 OTHERS

A 16-year-old Chambersburg youth was free under $2,500 bond today to appear before juvenile court in Adams County on four charges of burglary.

The youngster, apprehended when he returned to Massanutten Military Academy at Woodstock, Va., implicated two other young men, both from Rahway, N. J. Police said. He confessed to local police his participation in burglaries of Reel's Tire Shop, The Lincolnway Atlantic Station, the Lincolnway Diner and the attempted burglary of the Atlantic Service Station on Buford Ave., last Wednesday morning.

However the youth, in admitting that he and two companions burglarized the Buford Ave. business places, according to police, said they had not entered the Unger Motor Co. garage on Steinhewer Ave. where $100 in a cash box was stolen the same morning.

The Chambersburg youth, according to police said that he, his roommate at the military academy, and an older friend of the Rahway cadet, a sailor who had just completed his service in the Navy, left Woodstock, after deciding they "had had enough" of the academy. The Chambersburg youth had been at the school since it opened this fall. The other was in his second year at the academy.

According to the story told police, the three decided to go to Washington, then changed their minds and decided to come to Gettysburg where "we knew some girls."

After arriving here Monday night, the three decided to burglarize the Buford Ave. establishments late Tuesday night. The had gone to the Lincolnway Service Station when the fire alarm sounded about 12:20 o'clock Wednesday morning, police said. The fire siren "frightened" the trio from the station for a time and they waited for "the town to quiet down" before resuming their operations.

The trio later separated and the Chambersburg youth returned to the military academy where Borough Policeman Raymond Menges and Donald Staub took him into custody Saturday. He was brought here and charged with burglary before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore. The case was transferred to juvenile court, the $2,500 bail was posted before the clerk of the courts Saturday afternoon, and the youth was released in the custody of his parents.

Bullets Wallop Terrors 89-56; Elizabethtown To Be Met Here Wednesday

Gettysburg College got off to a good start in its basketball campaign as it outclassed Western Maryland here Saturday night 89-56 before a large crowd.

After the first few minutes of play it was apparent the Bullets would win as they pleased and Coach "Hen" Bream was afforded the opportunity of testing his entire squad of 15 players.

A pair of free throws by Jack Keller got the Bullets off into the lead but free tosses by White and Sipe knotted the count. Thereafter the Bream-men pulled steadily away.

Bob Pizolo and Johnny Habeeb tallied a trio of goals each as Gettysburg took a commanding 25-12 lead in the first quarter.

Bill Snyder, ex-Allentown High star, landed three twin-pointers in the second frame which found the Bullets hiking their margin to 42-19. The close-guarding Orange and Blue outfit limited the Terrors to but three goals during the quarter.

Scrubs Take Over
Coach Bream kept his varsity on the bench for the first seven minutes of the third quarter and the reservists held their own with the Marylanders who showed a better attack with eight goals, four being accounted for by Tull. Going into the final period the Bullets were in front 66-37.

Both coaches sent their full supply of reservists in action during the final frame.

Gettysburg tallied its 32 field goals on 92 shots from the floor while Western Maryland needed 83 tosses to land 22.

The Bullets showed they need more work before hitting the stride expected of them but flashed excellent form from time to time. Several relief men indicated that Coach Bream may have more bench strength than anticipated.

VIC SEIXAS IS UPSET WINNER

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Crafty Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, whose chances were considered "next to nil," stunned this tennis-mad nation today by whipping Frank Sedgman, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, to win the Victorian Championship.

Seixas' brilliant victory, on a court made slick by a weekend rain, rocketed Uncle Sam's hopes in the coming Davis Cup matches — and proved to the 5,000 fans in Kooyong Stadium that Sedgman is not unbeatable.

In becoming the second American to win the title—Don Budge did it in 1937—Seixas ended Sedgman's two-year hold on this crown. The Aussie ace, in fact, had not lost a match on Kooyong court in three years.

But today Seixas was the master. The U. S. Davis Cup captain shared honors with Maureen Connolly, the little San Diego, Calif., lass who won the women's crown by defeating Julie Sampson of San Marino, Calif., 6-2, 6-3.

BARONS PULL OUT IN FRONT

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Barons are slowly but surely pulling away from the rest of the field in the American Hockey League pennant race. Cleveland is riding the crest of an eight-game winning streak today and enjoys a five-point edge on the runner-up Hershey Bears. The Bears, in turn, are only one point ahead of the Pittsburgh Hornets.

Both the Barons and Bears won yesterday. Cleveland turned back the tail-end Buffalo Bisons, 5-3, while the Bears nipped the sixth-place Providence Reds, 4-3.

The Barons ran up a 4-0 lead in two periods to win in a breeze. Steve Wochy, Bob Bailey, Tom Hilderbrand, Red Williams and Ray Ceresino netted for the powerful Barons.

Sam Bettio tallied with less than two minutes to play to give the Bears the nod over the Reds. The Bears blew a 3-1 lead with only eight minutes to go but Bettio's second goal of the game saved the day.

SEE WIDE OPEN FIGHT FOR NO. 1 COLLEGE BERTH

NEW YORK (AP) — With the University of Kentucky sitting on the sidelines, the battle for the No. 1 spot in collegiate basketball figures to be more wide open than ever this season.

Kentucky cancelled its schedule this season on a recommendation of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which said the blue grass institution had violated NCAA rules concerning subsidization and eligibility.

Of course, it's too early to start picking a successor to the Wildcats but several clubs seem to have championship potential.

LaSalle Wins

One of these is La Salle of Philadelphia. The Explorers surprised everybody last season by winning the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden. On Saturday La Salle whipped Niagara, 87-76, for its second straight victory.

Kansas has lost its big scoring giant, Clyde Lovellette, and for this reason doesn't figure to repeat as eight NCAA or Big Seven king. Kansas State, which seems to have the edge in this fast circuit, had to go into overtime Saturday before defeating Drake, 79-73.

Notre Dame struck an early blow for national recognition by taking a 71-70 squeaker from highly rated Indiana.

Louisiana State, which figures to capture the Southeastern Conference crown, swamped Pensacola Naval Saturday, 107-59.

In the Far West, experts think the title will be decided between California and Washington. On Saturday, Cal rapped San Francisco, 64-33, and Washington whipped Utah, 77-56.

There was a lot of activity Saturday night. These were some of the leading results:

Penn 70 Maryland 53, NYU 80 Boston College 71, NC State 82 Davidson 47, West Virginia 89 Washington & Lee 83, Ohio State 81 St. Louis 71, Michigan 85 Pitt 78, Minnesota 79 Bradley 63, Oklahoma 63 Iowa 62, UCLA 58 Oregon State 43, Oregon 74 Stanford 64.

RALPH KINER NOT HOPING TO CHANGE TEAMS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ralph Kiner, home run hitting outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, says he does not want to be traded and hasn't given a thought to a possible salary cut.

In a telephone interview with a Pittsburgh Post-Gazette reporter, who was attending the baseball meeting in Phoenix, Kiner had this to say about reports his salary may be sliced:

"I really haven't given next year a thought since the season ended. I didn't have a good year (37 homers) with the club but then who did? I haven't heard anything from the Pirates and really can't say how I will feel until I receive my contract."

Highest Paid Last Year

"I have done my business with John Galbreath (Pirate president) in the past but don't know just how things will work out in the future," Kiner added from his Palm Springs, Calif., home.

The Post-Gazette says Kiner was the highest paid player in baseball last year, having received $90,000 through an arrangement which included a cut of the Pirate gate receipts.

Others Seek Kiner

Commenting on the possibility of being traded, Kiner declared: "I honestly don't want to leave Pittsburgh. I have always enjoyed playing there and have many good friends there. I would like to play on a winning ball club, though."

"If I were traded to a team that is a contender I think it would be quite different. I think I would enjoy that situation."

Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pirates, declared several clubs have approached him on the possibility of obtaining Kiner but they were willing to part only with cash.

7 MAJOR TEAMS HOPE TO MAKE PLAYER DEALS

By JOE REICHLER

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Major league owners and managers quit this city en masse today following the convention's windup still hopeful of completing player trades and blaming the lack of them because of the huge legislative agenda at the meetings.

At least seven team representatives said they felt "reasonably certain" they would complete deals that originated here before long. The clubs are Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Brooklyn, New York Giants, Boston Braves, Chicago White Sox, Cincinnati and St. Louis Cardinals.

"I'm sure the Cardinals would have completed a trade or two here," said President Fred Saigh before his departure, "if we hadn't been so tied up with legislation. The same can be said of several other clubs."

Not So Hopeful

Other officials were not so hopeful. General Manager George Weiss intimated his New York Yankees would not do any trading.

The Dodgers, rebuffed in their attempt to land southpaw ace Warren Spahn from the Braves, switched their attention to Pittsburgh in an attempt to secure right-hander Murry Dickson. That, too, hit a snag. Just before leaving for California, Brooklyn Vice President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi held a long conference with President Gabe Paul of the Reds in an attempt to acquire left-hander Harry Perkowski and first baseman Joe Adcock. Paul listed the names of five players he wanted to return. The identity of the players, nor Bavasi's reaction, was not learned immediately.

The Cards, who would like to add a catcher, a right-handed hitting outfielder and a first baseman, talked with Cincinnati, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh and the Giants.

To Trade Adcock

It was understood the Giants offered St. Louis catcher Sal Yvars, first baseman Tookie Gilbert, pitcher Monte Kennedy and outfielder Don Mueller for right-handed pitcher Gerry Staley but were turned down.

Another report had Cleveland offering third baseman Al Rosen, the American League's official runs - batted - in champion, to the White Sox for shortstop Chico Carrasquel. Chicago countered by de-circuit's home run king last season.

One trade is almost certain to be made. That one will involve Adcock, the first baseman - outfielder of the Reds. Adcock, forced to the outfield by slugger Ted Kluszewski, has asked Cincinnati officials to trade him to a club "where I will play first base and not the outfield." Cincinnati is willing to oblige him but wants an "equitable return."

In addition to Brooklyn, the Cards and Philadelphia Phillies have made bids for Adcock. "The Phils have made the best offer so far," said Paul.

The Giants are seeking a starting pitcher. The list has narrowed down to Dickson, Staley and Russ Meyer of the Phillies. Realizing they cannot offer as much as Brooklyn, the New York club has given up any attempt to get Spahn. Although the Brooklyn-Boston trade talk has collapsed, there is still a chance the Dodgers will yield to the Braves' demands for first baseman Gil Hodges, outfielder Carl Furillo, infielders third baseman Billy Cox and Rocky Bridges for Spahn and outfielder Sid Gordon.

Only three player trades were consummated at the meetings. The biggest one involved St. Louis and Detroit sending centerfielder Johnny Groth and pitchers Virgil Trucks and Hal White to the Browns in exchange for outfielder Bob Nieman, infielder Owen Friend and catcher J. W. Porter. Washington traded pitcher Mike Fornieles to the White Sox for Chuck Stobbs and Pittsburgh sent catcher Clyde McCullough to the Chicago Cubs for pitcher Dick Manville and cash.

Virginia Medical Halts Mountaineers

A field goal by McLean in the last seven seconds of play gave the Virginia Medical College basketball team a thrilling 75-73 victory over Mt. St. Mary's Saturday on the Virginians' floor.

The defeat napped a three-game winning streak for the Mounts. Charley O'Donnell topped the scorers for the Mountaineers with 24 points.

This week the Emmitsburg outfit plays at Towson Tuesday night and comes here Friday to meet the Gettysburg College Bullets.

GRID DINNER SPEAKER

The entertainment in Agricultural Hall on Thanksgiving night, by the young ladies and gentlemen of St. James Church, was quite an enjoyable affair. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental music, select readings, tableaux, scenic representations, etc., and had the merit of both variety and novelty, although probably too protracted. The audience was large and gave evidence of their appreciation of the performance by frequent applause. The receipts aggregated $71.50.

Today's Talk

THE MOST DISCRIMINATED AGAINST

Never should there be any discrimination against character, on account of race, color, religion or nationality. Character alone is the supreme test of a man's worth. We are getting very liberal along these lines, and it is a fine thing. But there is a large class that is being discriminated against, not for any of these reasons, but simply on account of age. The men and women of middle years, who have faithfully performed in the earlier years, are being dropped for the younger ones.

The argument is that there is a loss of interest, alertness, and incentive, on the part of the middle aged, so that there should be a replacement with younger workers. How then is experience to be appraised? The great executives are given a long term in which to reign. They have that valuable asset of experience which is difficult, though not impossible, to replace.

The ages between forty and fifty have always been regarded as the most valuable and productive of a worker's life. So long as he is faithful, efficient, and alert, he, or she, should be given every consideration, and not be discriminated against because of mere years. Among the greatest leaders in the world today are those beyond the age of sixty. No worker is through so long as his brain and spirit function!

A few years ago a book was written entitled: "Life Begins at Forty." This could be quite true, but many a life has begun at sixty! Eliminate the valuable work done by those at this latter age, or beyond, and a good portion of the pages of history would have to be torn out. Napoleon was old at fifty. Justice Holmes was young at eighty. Even a race horse is never old until it fails to win in victories! The most valuable and most constructive years of a worker's life should be those middle years. President-elect Eisenhower is 62 years of age, and he faces the biggest job in the history of the world.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Automatic Blessings." Protected, 1952, George Matthew Adams Service.

THE FRIENDLY SEASON
The paper's closer to the door than it was thrown a month ago.

The man who sells me gas once more inquires my state of health to know.

More smiles than frowns I daily see.

This seems to be the time of year (And would that it could longer be).

When all the grouches disappear.

It is the same from boy to boss. Life's burdens all more bravely bear.

No one is sulky now or cross. There's more politeness everywhere.

We've dropped our petty, selfish ways.

To pity, comfort and to cheer. These are December's friendly days.

When all the grouches disappear.

Oh wondrous miracle that can set just a few brief weeks apart.

When everything that's best in man can touch and grace the human heart!

The happiest season mortals know.

Is this, with Christmas drawing near.

When kinder, friendlier, they grow.

And all the grouches disappear.

Bulbs Easiest Flowers To Grow And Most Rewarding

CROCUS - 2 INCHES. SCILLA - 3 INCHES. DAFFODILS - 6 INCHES

TULIPS - 6 INCHES. HYACINTHS - 6 INCHES

Spring flowering bulbs are the easiest of garden flowers to grow because nature has so well equipped them to endure the cold of winter, and bloom with the first spring warmth, before insects and weeds have appeared.

The bulb you plant contains food enough to develop its flower, provided it is of flowering size. It not only endures winter, but requires a chill to make it flower. Tulips intended for growing in the far south, and in greenhouses, are given this chill in cold storage before planting.

Growth must begin in the fall, because when the spring thaw comes they begin to bloom not in months, nor weeks, but actually in days. Snowdrops appear as soon as frost leaves the soil. Scillas and chionodoxas are a few days later. Crocuses, daffodils and tulips follow in due order, and together they provide the dominant displays of the first three garden months.

Enemy Is Dampness
Many ideas about growing bulbs formerly held, have been discarded as a result of research. One is that bulbs do not need plant food. While the bulb is a storehouse of food for the embryo within, experience has demonstrated that more vigorous growth and larger flowers will be produced if the soil is enriched by commercial plant food when the bulbs are planted.

The greatest enemy of bulbs is dampness. To assist drainage it is sometimes the practice to put sand beneath each bulb. This is a useless measure. If you must plant in a spot where water stands long after it has drained from the rest of the garden, elevate a bed as high as necessary to insure drainage, and plant your bulbs there.

Depth of planting, in general, varies with the size of the bulb and the nature of the soil. In heavy soil, most of the bulbs need not be planted so deeply as in sandy soil. In average soil, plant snowdrops, scillas, chionodoxas, with three inches of soil above them. Grape hyacinths should have four inches of soil over them. Most lilies should be planted with 4 to 6 inches of soil over them and hyacinths and narcissi need six inches covering. Tulips which are intended to be lifted from the ground each spring, and replanted in the fall, may be planted at the same depth as narcissi. But if they are not to be lifted, but left in the ground for several years, deep planting, 10 or 12 inches down, is recommended.

Much Helpful
The reason for this deep planting is that it prevents the formation of several small bulbs to replace the one you plant, bulbs too small to flower the following year. Deep planting concentrates the energy of the plant on the production of a flowering size replacement bulb each year.

When bulbs are planted among other plants, holes should be dug with a trowel rather than a digger. Place the bulb firmly in contact with the soil at the bottom, and fill around it so no air pockets are left. When planting in a clear space, the soil is removed to the depth desired, the bulbs set in place on the bottom, and soil filled in.

Bulbs planted after mid October should always be covered with a heavy mulch to prevent the ground from freezing before root growth can begin. Bulbs which are frozen before growth starts may be prevented from growing, and lie dormant or decay during the winter. A mulch will delay freezing and permit the necessary root growth.

FACTS ABOUT POINSETTIAS
Many persons gain their first "speaking acquaintance" with the beautiful poinsettias when they receive a fully grown, in-bloom plant for Christmas. Apparently, judging by their letters of inquiry, their first impulse is to make plans to keep the plant over and enjoy it a second winter. But, unless they know how to take care of the gift specimen properly, they usually fall in to a train of errors and for several seasons thereafter will be found worrying with a scrawny, lanky, almost leafless plant that from an ornamental standpoint is worth several points less than nothing.

First among steps in proper care is to keep the Christmas poinsettia where the temperature remains fairly constant around 69 to 72 degrees, with emphasis on moist air and the absence of fumes from gas stoves. Too, the delicate red leaves should not at any time be subjected to sudden cold drafts. One reason why gift specimens often deteriorate so quickly after they are received is found in the fact that careless delivery employees expose the delicate foliage to cold winds en route to the recipient.

Poinsettias should be watered as needed and otherwise cared for until the leaves turn yellow and begin to drop. Then the plant (undisturbed in the pot) should be laid on its side in a dark, fairly moist basement or cellar where the temperature ranges between 45 and 50 degrees. This is its annual rest. Over and over should be repeated the advice that this plant demands a rest each winter after its brilliant leaves and green foliage fall.

Because no water is applied during its rest, the old plant will be shriveled and dry when it is brought out in late April or early May for re-potting. Then it should receive a fresh soil mixture of rich loam, leafmold or finely rotted compost and sand. The top should be cut back to 3 or 4 inches from the base and the soil watered liberally to settle it. Then it should be placed in a light room and watered sparingly until the first leaves open, then more liberally. After frost dangers are past the pot should be plunged to its brim in a sunny outdoor bed and the plant watered just enough over summer to prevent its dying.

Prunings from the old plant may be cut into 5 to 7-inch lengths and planted at once in moist sand or vermiculite under glass. The resulting plants should be accustomed gradually to sun and after they are vigorously rooted they should be shifted to individual small pots or three to five in a 6-inch pot and carried over summer on a sunny porch or plunged in an outdoor bed like the old plant.

Before nights grow cool in late summer all the plants should be brought into a light room and care resumed as advised for the Christmas plant. By the time bracts appear they should be fed once a week with manure water or with dried sheep manure worked and watered lightly into the soil.

Around the year whenever this plant is in foliage it must be examined carefully and frequently to detect mealybugs. These sapsucking pests must be killed off as soon as they appear, else many precious leaves may be lost. Black Leaf 40 as a spray in soapy water is recommended, applied so the individual insects are liberally coated. Often it is advisable to brush the surplus waxy white coatings from the mealybugs before the spray is applied. When only a few infest a plant they may be easily removed with a thin-bladed knife.

ily. And he thought, "The boy will be away at sea when Lubi comes at Christmas and he at least will escape the doom that awaits us all."

Now there was only one ship in the entire Fairvania Navy. They did not need a larger navy for they had never been at war with any other kingdom.

Prince Jonathan selected a crew from the best sailors in the land

So when the Prince said, "Hurry! We have no time to lose!" the sailors piled on the sail and stayed at their jobs night and day. The ship tore through the seas and all was well for three days and nights.

But on the afternoon of the third day a great wind came from the east and the skies above burst open. Rain pounded the ship. Wind battered it. Great, big waves rolled over the deck. They cracked off masts and swept them into the ocean.

All that evening and through the night the ship battled the hurricane. Before dawn Prince Jonathan stood clinging to the wheel. He tried to encourage his exhausted men. "It must end soon! We must sail on!"

The ship rolled on its side. The men, thrown into the corners, screamed with fright as they clung to the railing.

"We must get through!" shouted the Prince.

"No, No!" screamed the sailors.

"Unless we get through the Kingdom is lost!" cried the Prince.

The ship righted itself. But immediately there was another dreadful crash. Then came the sickening sound of splintering timber.

"We are finished!" groaned a

SUPREME COURT OPENS HEARING ON SEGREGATION

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today will be asked to give a historic answer to the greatest social importance on this question: Should there be an end to separate schools for white and Negro children everywhere in the United States?

The South awaits the outcome gravely but not only Southern states are involved. Five cases of school segregation—in South Carolina, Virginia, Delaware, Kansas and the District of Columbia—will be laid in the court's lap.

Lawyers, some of the most distinguished, will argue on both sides

"Not I!" retorted the Prince.

"I will never give up!"

Even as he spoke a flood of water surged over the deck. It tore Prince Jonathan from the wheel, hurled him across the deck and into the sea.

before the nine justices. The court will give its decision some time in 1953. It could, as it has in the past on other kinds of segregation, avoid giving a flat, final and sweeping opinion.

Based On 14th Amendment

At the heart of this struggle is the 14th Amendment, which says all citizens must be treated equally. Over half a century ago a railroad in Louisiana forced Negroes to ride in the back, or Jim Crow section, of its trains.

When protest was made to the Supreme Court on the grounds that this kind of segregation, or segregation of the Negroes violated the equal treatment clause of the 14th Amendment, the court gave a far-reaching opinion in 1896.

It said separate treatment for Negroes was not unconstitutional so long as they received equal treatment. This became known as the "separate but equal" doctrine. It left states everywhere free to pass segregation laws.

Decision Has Stood

And no court in the 56 years since then has overturned that principle. In recent years the court has knocked out segregation on interstate buses and trains but only because, it ruled, the Negroes were not getting equal treatment.

And in 1950 the court said Texas and Oklahoma must let Negroes

Eight Justices At Pearl Harbor Service

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—Eight state Supreme Court justices from throughout the nation took part yesterday in ceremonies at the Washington Memorial Chapel here marking the 11th anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The ceremonies were held under the auspices of freedom foundation. The George Washington award medal was presented to Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, New York clergyman, by Don Belding, on behalf of the 1951 Freedom foundation Awards Jury.

into their graduate schools but again only on the grounds that the Negro schools were not equal to those for Whites. The court did not say forcing the Negroes into separate schools was unconstitutional.

Now the court is being asked to say, once for all, that separation is unlawful, even when treatment is equal. The cases from Delaware, Kansas, Virginia and South Carolina all involve the 14th Amendment. The case from the District of Columbia is a little different although all five are being presented to the court in one bundle.

Gen. Ivan L. Bennett, U. S. Army Chief of Chaplains, and Rear Adm. T. C. Miller, Naval Base Chaplain at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese attacked.

Utah State and Brigham Young have played two nip and tuck football games the last two seasons. State won recently, 27-26, but in 1951 BY scored by 28-27.

PUTNAM TAKES OVER STALLED WAGE PROGRAM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam took charge of the stalled wage stabilization program today determined to turn over to the Eisenhower administration functioning wage controls even if he has to administer them himself.

Putnam had no wage board and there were indications he might have trouble setting up a new one. All industry members of the board, along with their colleagues on at least two of the 14 regional wage boards—Boston and Chicago—quit in angry protest to what they called "political expediency" in President Truman's handling of the coal wage case.

More To Resign
The chairman of industry members on the Kentucky-Ohio regional board said yesterday he will recommend his members resign too. The law says the wage board can operate only with equal representation of members representing industry, labor and the public.

DEFENSE Mobilizer Henry Fowler said in a television interview yesterday he believed industry, after "24 or 48 hours reflection," will decide to co-operate with the government program to stabilize wages. He said he believed it to be "utterly inconsistent" that industry, which must pay wages, would not participate in a wage stabilization program.

Sees Protest Strikes
AFL President George Meany in another television interview said that a foldup of the WSB may result in protest strikes by unions if a way is not found to clear a logjam of pending wage agreements. There are about 12,000 such cases before the board, and Meany said he believed Truman could solve the situation by giving blanket approval of all of them.

One thing appeared certain: Unions which now have wage petitions before the WSB are not likely to take wage reductions lying down.

Meany said the AFL favors wage and price controls, but he thinks the situation is tending toward an end to both. And he said if price controls are lifted, wage controls must be suspended too.

Study Legal Questions
CIO President Walter Reuther, whose union at its national convention last week voted a resolution to seek an end to wage controls, is expected in Washington this week to talk to Truman and Putnam and urge suspension of wage curbs.

Putnam, who also was in public disagreement with Truman's coal decision, believes he has the legal authority to keep the program going even without a wage board. Government lawyers spent all day yesterday studying legal questions involved in the sudden demise of the board and said that under the defense production act Putnam could pursue one of at least three courses:

1. Try to gain replacements for the resigned industry members, in which case the board would continue to run the program.
2. Appoint Charles C. Killings-

East Berlin

EAST BERLIN — Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bubb and family, R. 1, had as recent guests at their home Chaplain John R. Strevig, formerly pastor of the local Lutheran church, with his wife and daughter, Betty Ann, who are now living in Aberdeen, Md., where the chaplain is stationed. The Strevigs returned to the U. S. in a one-day plane trip from Germany in September, after three years while Chaplain Strevig was on duty in that country. Betty Ann Strevig is now a high school student in the Aberdeen district and also takes special music instruction at the Peabody Conservatory, Baltimore.

Mrs. James R. Myers left last week to spend the winter with her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Leicy, North York.

Donald R. Moul spent part of last week on a deer-hunting expedition in Lycoming County with a Hanover friend.

Pupils of the borough school have been having their individual photographs taken by a visiting photographer in their classrooms.

Richard O. Riggs has returned from his recent trip to Michigan to hunt bear, in company with his brother-in-law, Fred E. Shetter, New Oxford, and Harold M. Boyer, R. 3.

The men were unsuccessful. Mr. Riggs spent part of last week on a deer-hunting trip to Potter County. Although a vote was taken by the Lutheran congregation of Holtzschamm Church recently to determine the much-debated question of whether or not to erect a new church building to take the place of the present century-old stone worth, new board chairman, as his wage administrator with Putnam himself issuing all decisions involving wage petitions from unions and employers.

3. Run the program himself with the aid of the WSB staff of experts.

If the President is unable to find new industry members for the three-sided board, the second possibility appeared the likeliest solution.

structure, results were not sufficiently decisive to take action without further discussion. The older members, in general, favor the use of the old church while the younger persons wish a new building.

Miss Eleanor B. Wolf, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Wolf, is steadily improving after a recent illness.

Harold W. Gross spent part of last week on a deer-hunting trip to Perry County and other points in the mountainous regions of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Beatrice Fitzkee is recuperating after her recent operation. Mrs. Fitzkee, who teaches in the Thomasville area, is on a leave of absence due to her physical condition, but expects to return to school within a few weeks.

The Senior and Junior Choirs of Trinity Lutheran Church are beginning preparations for their annual Christmas services at the church on the Sunday before Christmas. In charge of the program is Miss Mae Bender Wolf, who is also organist.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Divel, near Two Churches in the Bermudian area, on November 29 at the West Side Osteopathic Hospital, West York.

Children of the Victory Schoolhouse are preparing to present a Christmas entertainment as a part of the coming meeting of the Reading Twp. Parent-Teachers Association Tuesday evening, December 16.

Frank Hoak shot a nine-point, 165-pound deer last week near New Oxford.

Charles Ryan has returned to his duties at the training center at Bainbridge, Md. The young man entered the Navy after having left his former home at Paradise Protective. He recently spent a few days there.

IKE CONFERRING WITH ADVISERS ON SHIPBOARD

By DON WHITEHEAD
ABOARD USS HELENA EN ROUTE TO HAWAII (AP)—President Dwight Eisenhower today opened a formal conference with advisers and future members of his administration within two hours after they were brought aboard this heavy cruiser by helicopter from Wake Island.

The Korean War was believed to be the main topic of discussion. But Eisenhower's press secretary James C. Hagerty, told reporters there would be no announcement now of subjects discussed or decisions that might be reached.

Dulles In Group
The conference that began today will continue until the Helena reaches Pearl Harbor Thursday. There, those aboard the cruiser will join military leaders and advisers for at least two more days of discussions.

Hagerty said he could not say what the general's itinerary would be after he leaves Hawaii.

Those who came aboard at Wake Island:

John Foster Dulles, secretary of state-designate; Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, who will be second to home duties after having been a patient at the Hanover Hospital for observation during November.

James H. Shaffer, west of town, who was recently a patient at the Warner Hospital for a brief observation period, is slowly improving at his home from a heart ailment which has troubled him for some months.

retary of the interior; George M. Humphrey of Cleveland, secretary of the treasury-designate; Gen. Lucius Clay, close friend and adviser to Eisenhower; Joseph M. Dodge of Detroit, who may be the next director of the budget, and C. D. Jackson and Emmet Hughes, who will be on the general's White House staff.

Go On To Pearl Harbor
Charles E. Wilson, defense secretary-designate, and Adm. Arthur Radford, commander in chief, Pacific, left the Helena at Wake and flew to Pearl Harbor. There they will confer with Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, on military problems in Korea.

Eisenhower lunched with those who remained aboard, including Herbert Brownell, attorney general-designate, and Wilton B. Persons, who will be a White House assistant.

U. S. To Reveal Its Stand On Tunis

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. S., still at odds with Britain and France over the U. N.'s right to discuss the Tunisian question, planned to reveal its stand on that terrorism-studded problem today.

Philip Jessup, whose resignation as a Truman ambassador-at-large has already been submitted, was to make the U. S. position known in the U. N. Assembly's political committee.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, Penn State president, ordered the reconsideration of the MacRae case Nov. 15 on the suggestion of a seven-man faculty committee.

Earl G. Harrison, Philadelphia attorney and former dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, was designated "investigating officer" in the MacRae case.

France has boycotted the committee on the grounds the U. N. has no right to intervene in what France considers a domestic question affecting only herself and her Tunisian protectorate.

REMOTE CONTROL VALVE SYSTEMS are an important development in the safety and efficiency of natural gas pipeline operation. At one of Texas Eastern's compressor stations, an operator shows how he can close main valves throughout the station simply by pulling the handle of a small control valve. At each Texas Eastern compressor station, main valves can be operated by remote control from a central point.

GIANT VALVES are closed by remote control in just a few minutes. Before these installations, two men sometimes labored for as long as 30 minutes to close one valve.

THESE PRESSURE RELIEF VALVES provide automatic pipeline protection. By keeping pipeline pressures within established limits, they safeguard the flow of natural gas.

REMOTE CONTROL VALVES USED TO PROTECT THE FLOW OF NATURAL GAS THROUGH ADAMS COUNTY

Newly-installed remote control valves protect Texas Eastern's customers against interruptions in the vital flow of natural gas to homes and industry.

To protect consumers from curtailments of natural gas delivery, a system for remote control of valves has been installed at each Texas Eastern compressor station. By simply turning a lever, a man can open and close valves larger than himself to divert gas through secondary lines without interruption of gas flow.

The giant valves, powered by the new remote control system, operate with split-second timing. Before the introduction of automatic valve systems, closing a single pipeline valve sometimes required the work of two men for a period of thirty minutes or more. Now, one man can operate as many as six valves in five minutes.

In addition, sensitive automatic relief valves keep pressures in the pipelines within the safety range determined by engineers.

These advances in both safety and efficiency in pipeline operation are part of Texas Eastern's continuing program to keep its natural gas transmission system one of the most progressive and dependable in the nation.

IKE HAS KEPT PROMISE; HOPE SPRINGS FROM KOREAN VISIT

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's campaign bombshell—his promise to go to Korea if elected president—has been kept.

One of the most dramatic journeys of our generations is over. What will be the results?

The final fruits of his visit to the bitter Korean peninsula can be expected to mature slowly. The situation there is too complex to be solved by pulling a rabbit out of the hat, and Gen. Eisenhower has wisely warned he has no ready tricks up his sleeve to end the war. The great danger of his voyage is public impatience, a letdown into disillusionment. The hopes of many rode with him, and the hopes of some were too high. There was even considerable hysteria in the minds of many mothers, who perhaps nursed a wild maternal dream that their sons might follow the general home on the next plane.

Own Son There

Gen. Eisenhower himself, of course, encouraged no such illusions. His own son is with a front-line division, and he has seen too much service to promise an easy solution to a problem that has baffled some of the best military leaders who helped him forge victory in Europe in the last war.

The present Eighth Army commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, has a son missing in combat in Korea. The U. S. Army itself—the career soldiers—suffered a high rate of casualties, particularly in the first six months of the war.

The war has now dragged into its 30th month. What General Ike wanted to do—and now has done—was to make a personal tour of the battle area, and get the picture of the stalemate there through his own eyes, unprejudiced by prior commitments to any single course of action.

No Early Solution

It is unlikely that any possible decisive measures he feels should be taken will become apparent immediately. In war things don't usually go that way. It requires time and planning to carry out any major decision.

Thus it seems highly probable that the war will go on for a while much as it has been for many months, barring the launching of a gigantic offensive by the million-man Chinese Red army. The Korean landscape is forbidding enough in summer. In winter its frozen hills form even more terrible obstacles to widespread offensive operations.

But while Eisenhower's journey may immediately disappoint those who built their hopes too high, it already has had two heartening effects:

War Out Of Politics

1. It has given the troops in Korea a tremendous morale lift. 2. It has brought "the forgotten war" into the hearts and minds of millions of Americans in a memorable way. For too long it has been a matter of personal concern only to the men who fought there.

RED STOOGES ARE NOT SECURE IN ANY NATION

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The hanging of the 11 Czechoslovakian Communist leaders is a little less than reassuring to other Communists that membership in the party is a guarantee of longevity.

This will hardly be a discouragement to them, though, since there are always enough optimists in any group to say: "It can't happen to me."

The unpleasant end which overtook the 11 Czechoslovakians has been interpreted as the result of a struggle for power among the Czechoslovakian Communists themselves. This may be correct.

It may also be so incorrect that it sounds innocent. The 11 who were hanged had been long-time, faithful, hardworking Communists who had suffered for the cause and before their disaster held positions of great prominence.

Others Are Topped

In other Eastern European countries other Communist leaders, all with a long history of party work behind them, have been toppled and destroyed or are now in disgrace and awaiting destruction.

If all of them got into trouble simply because of power struggles among themselves inside their own countries, it might be concluded that Communists are simply politically cannibalistic and tend to chew each other up.

And the most other Communists would have to worry about—in countries already under their control or in a country like the United States where they'd like and their families and loved ones at home.

An even greater result is that it is likely to take the whole question of the conduct of the war out of the realm of partisan politics.

Eisenhower is a symbol of victory. He is firmly trusted by most of America's allies as well as by the American people. They have faith in his military judgment. Whatever final course he and his advisers decide should be taken, the average man will probably say: "If Ike says that's the best way, then it must be the thing to do. He was right before."

The first fruit of his journey should be unity. That has been sorely lacking in the Korean War. Now the American people have no choice except to line up solidly behind the hero who has always led them to victory before.

to get control—is learning how to get along among themselves.

But it is unthinkable, when remembering the Kremlin's control over the Eastern European countries, that anything serious could have happened to the 11 or any of the other old-time Communists without Stalin's approval.

All of them had been his instruments and none of them, since the Kremlin exerts rigid control on party members everywhere, could have come to power in the first place without the Kremlin's approval.

Why then were they in the end rewarded with the fate that overtook them? The Prague radio said the 11 had been convicted on charges of treason and other crimes. The public had to be told something.

Probably the Kremlin decided they had served their purpose—helping to establish communism in their own country—and from now on might be troublesome.

Because of their long activity in party work all of them had established a following—in Czechoslovakia, for example—which might obey them, instead on Moscow, in any break or disagreement with the Kremlin.

The liquidation of the long-loyal Communists in the other Eastern European countries should eliminate any future Titos for some time. Their successors can be handled in the same way, if that becomes necessary.

1,000 HI SCHOOL TEAMS SEEKING COURT PENNANTS
By DICK HOENIG
HARRISBURG (AP) — With the football season still providing plenty of subject matter for conversation, some 1,000 Pennsylvania high school basketball teams are off on the chase for state game championships.

Many schools opened month-long exhibition schedules last week; others begin play this week. Until the first week of January, however, most of the combat is designed as a proving grounds. On Friday, Jan. 2, a majority of the state's major conferences get going.

In the middle of March the state championship PIAA eliminations get underway with four state-wide titles the goal. A champion in class A, class B, and class C in the public school division and a Catholic school titlist will emerge from the annual playoffs.

Face Hard Race
The start of the month season indicates that it is going to be a tough job for many of last year's kingpins to repeat. Not a single man from the 1951 first All-State five is back to spearhead his school's drive.

The state class A champs, Farrell's Steelers, got off on the right foot by whipping Warren, O., 50-25, Friday but another record of 29 win in 30 starts is a long way off for the western power.

All-star Julius McCoy and four more of seven regulars are gone, leaving only two of last season's

Call In "Talking Horse" To Help Find Missing Boy

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A 27-year-old "talking" horse has been called in to play detective in the search for a missing Rhode Island youngster.

The youngster, 9-year-old Gary Hayman, disappeared from the exeter State School near Providence, R. I., Sept. 23 and hasn't been seen since.

Mrs. Benjamin Hayman, clinging to the hope that her son is still alive, called the Richmond Times-Dispatch yesterday from Rhode Island and asked that a newsman be sent to query Lady Wonder, a horse whose amazing "answers" to questions once prompted two psychologists to tab her a "genius phenomenon."

The Times-Dispatch sent reporter Bill McIlwain to "interview" Lady, who pecks out her answers on a giant typewriter-like contraption. When she answers, she lowers her chin to touch levers jutting out from slots containing letters. The letters pop up, spelling out her answers.

Boy Is Alive, Horse Says
When McIlwain asked if Gary, a mute, were alive, Lady pushed out "yes."

Then she spelled out the word "hurt" and when McIlwain asked where the boy is, Lady replied "truck."

When asked where the truck was, Lady said "Kansas." McIlwain repeated the question twice and got the same answer.

Boy Can Be Found
Then he asked if Gary could be found.
"Yes," said Lady.

When Mrs. Hayman learned of Lady's responses, she said: "Oh God, I hope he's safe, I hope he's safe."

She said it was difficult to conceive of her son having got to Kansas, but added that he may have been hit by a passing motorist and perhaps carried away.

Stranger Than Fiction
She said she had given all available information to Rhode Island police to pass on to Kansas authorities.

Mrs. Hayman heard about Lady Wonder through a newspaper story three days ago which told of the horse helping to find the body of a missing 4-year-old Massachusetts boy.

Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing said Lady gave the answers that led searchers Thursday to the body of Danny Matson, who had been missing from his Quincy, Mass., home since January, 1951.

"It's stranger than fiction," said Dewing. "And we kept it a secret because we didn't want people to think we were completely out of our minds."

Troopers Capture Escaped Convict
SOMERVILLE, N. J. (AP) — State police today captured a huge, powerful convict who escaped from Somerset County jail after he had beaten and stabbed a guard.

A cordon of 20 state troopers closed in on the escapee in a field in the Baskin Ridge area of Bernards Township.

The troopers fired over the head of the 235-pound fugitive as he screamed "kill me." The police grappled with the convict and finally subdued him after a struggle.

CHURCH BODY CONVENES AT DENVER TODAY

DENVER — Representatives of a majority of American Protestants today grappled with the problem of giving "the little brown church" a full part in interdenominational teamwork.

And some church leaders, here for the General Assembly of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., said the task is no easy one.

The Rev. O. M. Walton of Pittsburgh, executive of the Allegheny County Council of Churches, said there is some feeling that the national council lacks sufficient direct liaison with local councils of churches.

"This is perhaps a real danger," he said. "There must be close contact between the council and forces in the field. Co-operation means little, unless it is at the local level, where the churches are."

29 Denominations There
As now constituted, the council, biggest co-operative religious venture in American church history, is governed by a general board and the general assembly, made up largely of denominational representatives.

The general assembly, which opens tomorrow night, is the first since the formation two years ago of the 29-denomination council.

Delegates from the denominations, encompassing 33 million Protestant and Eastern Orthodox church members, today were participating in departmental conferences.

Ten members of Army's 1952 football team are New York state residents. Two of them — James Ryan and Joe Lapchick Jr. — come from Yonkers, N. Y.

Airport Operator On Trial For Murder

COUDERSPORT, Pa. — The murder trial of Alfred L. Sallade, 32, a rural airport operator, on charges of shooting to death a 19-year-old Harvard sophomore, opened in Potter County Court today.

Presiding Judge Walter P. Wells called in a panel of 90 from which to choose the jury for the fourth murder trial in Potter County history.

Sallade, who runs the Cherry Springs Airport at the nearby Cherry Springs State Park, is accused of killing Charles P. Van Pelt, 18, only son of a socially prominent suburban Philadelphia family. He also is charged with assault with intent to murder and aggravated assault and battery.

When Northwestern beat Illinois recently by 28-26 the Wildcats took a 22-21 lead in the football series. Three games ended in ties.
